Additional Information:

* Undergraduate degree in Construction Management, Architecture, Engineering or approved major recommended for this track.

¹ Required coursework for the MAI professional designation. Students must complete all 7 of the courses indicated to satisfy the MAI educational requirement. Courses must be completed via the Burns School and cannot be completed from another entity.

Professional Designations:

Faculty advisors can assist students in selecting courses that meet some of the educational requirements for the following designations: CCIM, MAI, CIPS, DBIA, CPM and/or FIABCI.

Certified Commercial Investment Member (CCIM)

The CCIM designation is for individuals in the commercial brokerage field. Designees will complete specified CCIM courses and must have a strong work history as a commercial broker. If interested in this designation, please discuss these requirements with Dr. Jeff Engelstad at jengelst@du.edu

Design Build Institute of America (DBIA)

DBIA is the only organization that defines, teaches and promotes design-build best practices. Members are connected to a network of over 4,200 leaders in the design and construction industry. Students will have the opportunity to complete the educational requirements preparing them to sit for the Associate or Professional design-builder designation exam. If interested in this designation, please discuss these requirements with Dr. Barbara Jackson at Barbara.jackson@du.edu

International Real Estate Federation (FIABCI)

This is an international certification awarded by the FIABCI organization headquartered in Paris, France. Requirements include completion of specified course work and a portfolio of international real estate transactions. If interested in this designation, please discuss these requirements with Dr. Mark Levine at mlevine@du.edu

Member Appraisal Institute Professional Designation (MAI & SRA)

The Franklin L. Burns School of Real Estate and Construction Management is one of the few schools in the nation with an approved master's degree curriculum satisfying the educational requirements for the Appraisal Institute's MAI professional designation. As a professional organization of real estate appraisers, the Appraisal Institute awards the professional designations SRA and MAI for residential and commercial real estate appraisal. These designations are highly respected by the real estate and financial business communities and by the general public. Visit www.appraisalinstitute.org for more information.

ProCore Certification

Demand for technically skilled professionals in the construction software industry is on the rise. Earn a certification that validates your knowledge and expertise using Procore's construction management software. If interested in this certification, please discuss with Dr. Eric Holt at eric.holt@du.edu

Certified Property Manager (CPM)

The CPM designation is for individuals in the property management field. The Institute of Real Estate Management (IREM) awards this professional designation www.irem.org. Certified International Property Specialist (CIPS)

Additional Information:Cross-Utilization of Coursework Among REBE Programs

Note: The Online Executive REBE Certificate, the Online Executive MS-REBE degree, and the on-campus MS-REBE degree entail meeting distinct and separate admission criteria for each program. Students accepted into one program may only apply 16 credits of coursework toward another program (with prior permission from an REBE advisor and the Director of the Burns School). In order to graduate from either the Executive MS-REBE or the on-campus MS-REBE, students will be responsible for meeting all degree requirements for that particular program, and for completing all but 16 hours of coursework in the corresponding course format. Please contact your Burns School advisor if you have questions.

For detailed academic policy information, refer to Graduate Student Handbook. An overall GPA of 3.0 is required for graduation. Electives must be graduate (4000-level) courses.

Program requirements are subject to change without notice and all courses are not necessarily taught each year.
